

Bulgarian Folk Music Workshop

August 10-15, 2015

Living Museum in Koprivshtitsa

General Info

The Folk Factory 2015 workshop is an opportunity for learning Bulgarian Folk Instruments and Vocal styles in Koprivshtitsa (August 10-15, right after the Fest). The workshop will be hosted in a big conference hall of the Living Museum which is placed in the center of Koprivshtitsa. There is an open concert stage in the Museum's yard where the workshop participants can play and dance in the evenings.

Classes

There will be four types of classes: Gadulka, Balkan Folk Violin, Tamboura and Bulgarian Singing Styles (lecture & practice). No prior experience is necessary for traditional instruments and singing. The classes are adjusted (on site) to the level of the students.

Note: If you are a multi instrumentalist or a singer who wants to learn, for example, Tamboura, you can attend more than one class. There are no additional fees.

Teaching Tools

All full registered participants will get a free training tool (Book+CD) and keep that toolkit after the workshop. The daily registered participants can use a Folk Factory educational tool (or get a printed copy of a given musical material) during the lessons.

Teachers

The classes will be taught by the famous multi instrumentalist, vocal expert and Folk Music self-teaching tools developer Ivan Kovachev. There will be an assisting vocal team led by Singing Master of the Kotel Folk Music school - Sashka Chenkova.

The members of the vocal assisting team are native to various folk regions and will present authentically different folk singing styles.
